

Birkbeck Institute for the Humanities

'Talking Books' - Rosi Braidotti and a panel of guests will discuss her book
'Transpositions: On Nomadic Ethics'

Saturday 22nd November 3pm - 5pm Room B35 Birkbeck Main Building followed by drinks reception.

Panel:

Rosi Braidotti (Utrecht University) Distinguished Professor in the Humanities at Utrecht University in the Netherlands, founding director of the Centre for the Humanities (UU) and Honorary Visiting Professor in the Law School of Birkbeck College, University of London. She has published extensively in Continental philosophy, poststructuralism and feminist theory, epistemology, social theory and cultural studies.

Patrick Hanafin (Birkbeck) Professor of Law, Director of Research and Director of the LLM Programme in Human Rights at Birkbeck Law School, University of London. His books include: Conceiving Life: Reproductive Politics and the Law in Contemporary Italy (2007); Constituting Identity: Political Identity Formation and the Constitution in Post-Independence Ireland (2001); Last Rights: Death, Dying and the Law in Ireland, (1997); Identity, Rights and Constitutional Transformation, (With Melissa Williams) (1999) and Irish Medical Law (with David Tomkin) (1995).

Clare Hemmings (LSE) Reader in Feminist Theory, Gender Institute LSE. Clare has been working on the institutionalisation of Gender Studies nationally and internationally for some years: developing curricula and sources, building representation and providing advice. This role has precipitated her research in this area, and resulted in a range of major publications.

Lisa Baraitser (Birkbeck) Lecturer in Psychosocial Studies at Birkbeck, University of London and a psychotherapist with a wealth of clinical experience, particularly with mothers. Her research is concerned with articulations of the maternal in the fields of psychoanalysis, psychosocial theory, feminism and philosophy, and their intersections with varied accounts of ethics, affect and event.
